Appointment of judicial officers in Subordinate Judiciary are made by the State Governments in consultation with their respective High Courts under articles 233 and 234 of the Constitution.

State Governments and the High Courts have been addressed periodically on the need to fill up all vacant posts, and create more posts where necessary. Hence, no time frame can be fixed for filling up the vacancies.

(c) In accordance with the procedure for appointment of Judges of High Courts, the Chief Justice of a High Court is expected to initiate recommendation for filling up vacancies in consultation with the collegium of Judges. On the part of the Government of India, the Chief Justices of the High Courts are periodically requested to initiate proposals for appointment of Judges in respective High Courts.

One of the items on the National Agenda for Governance of the National Democratic Alliance is to constitute a National Judicial Commission which will, inter alia, recommend judicial appointments in the High Courts and the Supreme Court of India. The proposal, however, would require an amendment to the Constitution.
